

Felipe Voloch

University of Texas at Austin

Unboundedness of the number of rational points on curves

We will discuss some results and speculations about the number of rational points on curves of genus bigger than one over global fields. In particular, we will describe the result obtained jointly with R. Concei and D. Ulmer, where we show that the number of rational points on (non-isotrivial) curves of fixed genus over a fixed function field can be arbitrarily large.